THE CINCINNATI CONVENTION.

If the desires and hopes of the leaders are carried out in the Convention which opens | chocolate. at Cincinnati to-day, a third party will be placed in the field. Those leaders say that it will be a strong lady fingers. party and a formidable opponent of the principal political organizations already established. Whether such a formation shall come or not, the Convention is to be a out shopping. most interesting affair and can hardly fail of an important bearing on the course of political events.

The call for the Convention was first issued with the date named as Feb. 23d. It came not from the Farmers' Alliance as gree, chased or jewested buttons the size of a a good deal. bor Unions and other industrial formations are to be represented in the an effectual harmonizer at Cincinnati. The eight-hour question, the silver question and the varying ideas of farmer delegates from the East South and West up the platform and the Convention which acts upon it. Men high in the councils which have preceded the Cincinnati gathering are sanguine that harmony will be easily secured. The work of the Convention to that end will nevertheless be closely and-as the existing parties are concernedanxiously watched the country over.
